

KINGS AND QUEENS AT FREDERICK'S FUNERAL

Monarchs and 2,000 Notables
Mourn at Royal Bier in Roskilde.

MEETING IS IMPORTANT

Diplomatic Significance in Gathering of Three Scandinavian Rulers.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
COPENHAGEN, May 24.—With impressive pomp and ceremony, in the presence of four kings, four queens and 2,000 notables from all over Europe, and in striking contrast to the loneliness and obscurity of his sudden death in Hamburg, the body of the late King Frederick VIII. today was laid to rest in Frederick V's chapel at Roskilde, after lying in state since Monday in the Christiansborg Chapel.

The funeral service in the chapel of the place at Christiansborg was attended by all the Danish and foreign royal personages, the members of the various foreign embassies and military and naval dignitaries.

The Queen Mother was greatly affected during the service and fainted a few minutes before the close.

From the chapel the coffin was taken to the railroad station close at hand. All the members of royal families walked, while the women were in carriages. The procession went through a crowd of 150,000 people which had massed along the route.

A special train conveyed the body to Roskilde, from which station another procession went to the cathedral. The members of the royal families again walked behind the coffin, which was on a gun carriage, while the women were in carriages further behind.

The service at the cathedral was notable for the beautiful music. The chaplain's address was poor and unimpressive. In fact his mention of Germany's unloyal attitude toward Denmark in the war of 1864, in view of the presence of the German Crown Prince, was regarded as tactless and without taste.

After the funeral service, while the royal mourners, following an ancient custom, threw handfuls of soil toward the coffin, the King's body was entombed in the crypt of King Frederick V's chapel, where rest the bones of thirty-three monarchs.

Great diplomatic importance was attached to the meeting at the King's funeral of the three Scandinavian kings, Christian of Denmark, Haakon of Norway and Gustav of Sweden. It was the first time in a thousand years that the three Scandinavian monarchs met on friendly terms, and it was said that the three became so friendly at the dinner following the funeral that further meetings were planned for Stockholm and Christiania.

Other royalties in attendance at the funeral included Dowager Queen Louise, the widow of King Frederick; King George of Greece, the dead King's brother; Dowager Queen Alexandra of Great Britain, a sister; the Dowager Empress Marie of Russia, a sister; Queen Maude of Norway, Archduke Peter Ferdinand of Austria, the Italian Duke of Genoa, the Spanish Infante Don Carlos and many others.

The cathedral at Roskilde was draped with black and white, and hymns were sung by the royal opera singers and the students of the choral union.

The United States Government was represented by Charge d'Affaires Richardson in the absence of Minister Egan, who is in America.

Hope for an Exhibit.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
ROME, May 24.—The members of the Panama Pacific Exposition Commission had an audience with Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, to-day. They presented a letter of introduction from the Archbishop of San Francisco.

The Secretary of State expressed great regret that the time the commission would be in Rome would not permit of an audience with the Pope, but he would submit to the Pontiff the request of the commission that the Holy See would have an exhibit at the Panama Pacific show.

Cardinal Merry del Val expressed the hope that the Pope would sanction such an exhibit.

Premier Giolitti received the members of the commission in the most cordial manner. He promised that Italy should be worthily represented at the exposition, of which, he said, he felt convinced was assured by view of its thorough organization. The Premier expressed the hope that in addition to the Government there would be many private Italian exhibitors.

The commissioners left Rome separately. They will meet again in Paris.

CAMPAIGN HUMILIATES DIX, WHO IS IN LONDON

Governor "Feels Keenly" the Effects of the Roosevelt-
Taft Fight.

HE HIMSELF IS NOT IN RACE

Denies He Seeks Democratic Honor—Favors an Uninstructed Delegation.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
LONDON, May 24.—Gov. Dix of New York, who has been on a motor trip, arrived in London this evening. Speaking of President Taft and Col. Roosevelt, the Governor said he considered it a humiliating spectacle to witness their fight. As an American citizen he felt keenly that the dignity of the Presidential office should be so lowered and should have attracted so much attention. Speaking of a likely Democratic candidate, he said there was a good crop of militant ones and a whole harvest of receptive candidates.

Asked if he was personally a candidate, active or receptive, Gov. Dix said decidedly "No."

In reply to a question as to the candidacy of Mayor Gaynor of New York, the Governor said the Mayor's own words, that proposing men for President spoiled many useful citizens, seemed to be the best answer to that question.

Speaking of the issues of the campaign Gov. Dix said the Democratic party had the best of the argument by its position on public questions, the attitude of the business world and the evidence shown in the treatment of those important questions in Congress. The tariff, the Governor said, would be the cardinal issue of the campaign.

Asked as to who was the most likely candidate of the Republican party, President Taft or Col. Roosevelt, the Governor said:

"I do not see how the Republican party can logically do otherwise than renominate President Taft. The Democrats have a good chance of victory no matter whom the Republicans nominate. I was most anxious that the Democratic delegation from New York to Baltimore should be uninstructed and should work for the best interests of the party. The Democrats in my State are united, vigorous and on the right side on all public questions. There is no suspicion of corruption in the party. Its record is such that the people will approve it by continuing the party in power. I believe the State will go Democratic at the national election."

The Governor's opinion was asked as to the revival of racing in New York. To this he replied:

"There is no question that since racing was stopped the quality of horses has deteriorated because there is no demand for them."

To the question "Isn't that an argument for the revival of racing?" the Governor cautiously replied:

"I do not care to speak on that subject. It's purely academic and one for the people to decide. More important issues are sidetracking this question."

Gov. Dix will sail for home on the Lusitania on June 8 to attend the convention at Baltimore, to which he is one of the delegates at large. The Governor says he has motored 8,000 miles and feels quite fit. He will automobile to Shakespeare's country and Oxford to-morrow.

ENGLAND'S RICHEST CHILDREN.

Sir Edward Sassoon's Death Leaves
Millions to Boy and Girl.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
LONDON, May 24.—The death of Sir Edward A. Sassoon leaves his daughter Sybil and his son Philip the two wealthiest young people in England. Sybil has just come out this season.

The house of Sassoon has been in existence for more than 200 years as one of the financial powers of the Orient. The Sassoons are to the East what the Rothschilds are to Europe, and the relations between the two houses are evident from the fact that Sir Edward Sassoon married the daughter of Baron Gustave Rothschild, one of the heads of the Paris branch of the Rothschild bank.

Sir Edward's father, Albert A. Sassoon of Bombay, was made a baronet by Queen Victoria in 1890. He had given up his permanent residence in Bombay twenty years before on the invitation of the Prince of Wales to live in England. His brother, Raoul Sassoon, was the Prince's companion when the latter went on his continental journeys of pleasure.

The Sassoons were by descent the Mesopotamian Jews. Originally the headquarters of the banking house was at Bagdad, but in the early part of the last century they moved their chief office to Bombay, and from there directed the affairs of the house, which predominated the markets of Asia and Mohammedan Africa. For years the Sassoons controlled, it is said, the Asiatic opium trade. Sir Albert's residence in Bombay, Sans Souci, has been described as so beautiful that it seemed like a picture of the imagination. His son, Sir Edward, followed his father's example, and bought the extraordinary house on Park lane, London, known as Barnato's Folly.

Sir Edward Albert Sassoon, Bart., was born on June 20, 1856. He succeeded his father as baronet in 1896. He was a Major of Middlesex Yeomanry (the Duke of Cambridge's Hussars), and was Conservative member of the House of Commons for Hythe in 1890 and 1891. He had a son and a daughter, succeeded to a fortune which makes them the wealthiest heirs in England.

NEW BUDAPEST RIOTS; PEACE VOTE IGNORED

Labor and Socialist Leaders
Urge Truce, but Fights Continue.

TROOPS PATROL THE CITY

Torch Applied to Factories—
Stormy Session of Parliament
—Many Duels Due.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
BUDAPEST, May 24.—At a popular meeting to-day it was decided that all strikers should return to work. The labor leaders urged the avoidance of all excesses.

Rioting was renewed this evening on the Outer Waizen Boulevard. The rioters were armed with revolvers, knives and stones. Several rioters and a number of policemen were injured, but the casualties were less serious than on Thursday. There were 140 arrests.

In spite of this rioting continues and troops are patrolling the city. Both infantry and artillery detachments are on duty, the soldiers having superseded the police.

Seventy-three persons were wounded, some fatally, in the rioting to-day.

The Socialist leaders in urging their followers to return quietly to work say that yesterday's demonstration of strength has so impressed the Government officials that many of the demanded reforms are certain to be granted.

The city garrison, heavily augmented by troops from outside of the city, will be held on duty until entirely normal conditions are restored.

The session of Parliament to-day was stormy in the extreme. Bitter denunciations were made by several of the Opposition leaders and they held the Government directly responsible for all of the bloodshed that has accompanied the strike.

Bitter replies were made by Government followers, and it was considered inevitable that there would be a score of duels growing out of the situation.

Following the Government concessions the factory owners tried to lock out their employees as a punishment for the industrial effects of the strike. Thereupon the men gathered together and raided several of the structures.

The mob spent its violence in breaking machinery, looting and in several instances, applying the torch to the buildings. Troops were hurried to the scene but the temper of the rioters was most bitter and the soldiers were stoned. They were finally compelled to charge and fire on the crowds, many being wounded.
